Gifts and Hospitality

The underlying principle is that staff who have any doubt about whether their official position would be placed at risk should seek guidance from their Line Manager/Clinical Lead. It is an offence for staff to accept any gift or consideration as an inducement or reward. The only exceptions are token gifts of gratitude from patients or articles of low intrinsic value, such as diaries or calendars from suppliers. In cases of doubt, staff should either consult their Line Manager or politely decline acceptance.

The Bribery Act 2010

The Bribery Act 2010 came into effect on the 1st July 2011 and made it a criminal offence to give promise or offer a bribe, and to request to agree to receive or accept a bribe, either at home or abroad. It also includes bribing a Foreign Official. It will increase the maximum penalty for bribery to ten years imprisonment with an unlimited fine. The Act also introduced a corporate offence of failing to prevent by bribery by the organisation not having adequate preventative procedures in place. An organisation may avoid conviction if it can show that it had procedures and protocols in place to prevent bribery. The organisation should carry out assessments of the risks of bribery and corruption in its business on a periodic basis. Procedures will be put in place that are proportionate to the bribery risks identified and for the Trust this will include information on the Trust's intranet and internet sites and additions to the Standing Orders (Standards of Business Conduct) and the declaration of interest and gifts and hospitality form.
