Fernandes Marinho, Dr Susana	Consultant	Non-financial professional interest	Member of the Immunology and Allergy Clinical reference Group - NHS England Member of prior committees (pre-changes in committee membership) The Clinical Reference Group for immunology and allergy has a significant work plan this year and all members of the committee have been given important roles to move forward a range of areas of commissioning essential for the delivery of allergy and immunology services across England. The move to commissioning by local ICS teams for specialist allergy services makes the input of allergy specialists absolutely critical in the development of national policies, guidelines and service specifications that will be implemented locally. I have experience working both nationally (as a previous CRG member) and locally in the development of the Allergy service in Manchester, this experience is important to support the CRG in the development of allergy provision across England. I have been leading on the review of Allergy specialist service specifications and have also started discussions with the CRG Lead commissioner, the chair and another member with a finance colleague from NHS England regarding development of national tariffs for Allergy and Clinical Immunology.	01/11/2022
