

Your child's heart

Below is a drawing of the heart which you can take to your child's next hospital appointment. The doctor can use it to draw your child's heart defect so that you have a clear, written record of your child's heart condition. You might like to use it to explain the condition to your partner, your relatives, your child's teachers and other carers.

This information sheet is part of the information pack Children with heart conditions, produced by the British Heart Foundation.
