

- The attached guides are intended to support primary care colleagues with tools and information as to how patients might be best supported in the community. They suggest an appropriate history for each presentation and the investigations that might be employed to confirm/rule out specific diagnoses.
- They provide guidance in terms of the investigations that should be carried out in primary care and the frontline treatments that should be tried prior to onward referral into secondary care.

